

Development of Relational Competences

Basic values, principles and concepts

family/lab
association.com

28 days in English

Price per person: EUR 3,800.00
(including accommodation and food)

Venue: Ekocentrum Loutí
Prague, Czech Republic

More information:
ruth@familylabassociation.com

In the way the programme is designed and structured, it offers opportunities to discover sources and ways of support for teachers, pedagogues and other professionals.

The methodology of work used throughout all the modules activates the relational potential of participants in such a way that their learning about relationships is theoretical, practical and personal.

Our experience shows that through personal engagement, taking responsibility for being part and participating in a group, and through competent leadership, groups become a safe place for individual and collective processes.